The book description reads: "In this book, I will give you dozens of ways to protect your Internet network and devices. This book covers topics such as email, passwords, and software security. It may seem too general, but all of these tips are excellent at defending against corona-themed scams/exploits/attacks. In fact, whether for COVID-19 or another emergency, these suggestions reinforce good security practices and habits."

Below the description is a "More »" link, a search input field, and a "Search inside" button. At the bottom of the page, there is a "Preview this book »" link.
